Charming, good-natured, and kind are all words best used to describe Ms. Pearl Jackson, affectionately known to many as 'Ms. J.'

For the past 17 years Ms. Jackson has given her support, her tireless effort and unconditional love to everyone here at Bloomfield College. She was more than just the E.O.F. secretary. She was the portrait of tenderness with a soothing voice and a radiant smile that warmed the hearts of everyone.

Ms. J. was a mother, a confidante, and a friend. She had the ability to flip a frown into a smile with a single hug. She could make you do something you may not have wanted to. Regardless of how tired one was, 'Baby, could you go to the store for me' or 'Let me use your legs' would have you on your way to Rite Aid without hesitation.

Through Ms. Jackson, many students, who had given up on school have continued their education. For she always stressed the importance of working hard and never quitting, "Education is the key."

There is no single word that would properly describe Ms. Jackson. She wore many hats and meant a great deal to all who knew her. A gift from God she was. And though she is no longer physically with us, in our hearts and spirits, she'll remain forever.

"One that is precious and rare"

Dr. Bobby Short, who received an honorary degree from Bloomfield College in 1990.

Westminster Theatre celebrated a quarter century as the cornerstone of Bloomfield College and a priceless showcase for art, music and theatre at a benefit gala on Saturday evening, September 21, 1991.

The newly renovated cultural facility was dedicated to the memory of the distinguished business and civic leader Robert V. Van Fossan.

The gala — entitled "A Short Affair" — was highlighted by a donated performance by legendary entertainer Bobby Short. The piano player and singer, who received an honorary degree from Bloomfield College in 1990, wowed the crowd with his cabaret and jazz virtuosity.

Dedicating Westminster Theatre to the memory of Robert V. Van Fossan was as fitting to the one-of-a-kind arena as the unique performance. The late chairman and chief executive officer of Mutual Benefit Life was himself one-of-a-kind: a veritable legend in civic leadership, whose tireless efforts focused on the intellectual and creative development of Newark's disadvantaged youth. He laid the foundation for thousands of young Newark men and women, hundreds of whom have attended Bloomfield College, to forge successful professional and personal lives.

Robert V. Van Fossan personified the mission of Bloomfield College: to prepare students to function at the peak of their potential in a multiracial, multicultural society. Implicit in this mission is the commitment to the betterment of educationally and economically disadvantaged students in the New York-New Jersey metropolitan area.

Because of this shared commitment — a shared mission, if you will — it came as no surprise that the Board of Trustees voted to rename the theatre the Robert V. Van Fossan Theatre, and to embark on an intense campaign to raise a $250,000 endowment fund for the theatre's continued operation.

The campaign was launched with a $50,000 challenge grant from the Morristown-based Amelior Foundation, headed by the well-known philanthropist Ray Chambers.

Mutual Benefit Life — in the spirit of its former leader — pledged $25,000 toward the campaign.

Van Fossan — in addition to his recognition in the business world as "the glue that holds corporate actors in place" and "one of the most important and effective chief executive officers in the 146-year history of Mutual Benefit Life" — also distinguished himself as "one of New Jersey's most respected civic leaders."

A great believer in corporate responsibility toward the community, Van Fossan played a key public affairs role in his company's home city of Newark. In the 1970s, when many had given up on Newark's revitalization, he stood at the forefront of efforts to restore Symphony Hall and was one of two principals to step forward to raise the private sector funds required to build the New Jersey State Performing Arts Center.

Van Fossan also founded and chaired The Partnership for New Jersey, a statewide organization of CEOs and community leaders formed to address key social and economic issues affecting the Garden State, and Renaissance Newark, Inc., the leading agency in the city's revitalization effort, which gave structure and formalization to Newark's public/private partnership.

Moreover, he served as chairman and trustee of the New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce, chairman of the Newark Performing Arts Corporation, and trustee of the Newark Museum and the Community Federation of New Jersey.

Benefit chairpersons Dorothea Frank; Dr. Richard A. Guarino, a College Trustee and president and medical director of Oxford Research International Corp.; and Adrian A. Shelby, second vice chairman of the College's Board.

A History of the American Film

A madcap musical satire of Hollywood by Christopher Durang

Side by side, BC students and faculty members put on a show that was true to Hollywood form.

Christopher Durang — America's leading satirical playwright — sprinkles references to movies throughout this epic. Durang makes fun of them all, and suggests that the Hollywood dream factory has taught us how to behave. His theme is that we are conditioned to mimic the latest popular entertainment, rather than forge our own identity. It's clear that what Durang is making fun of is the stereotyped behavior (and characters) presented to us by Hollywood. In other words, he is poking fun not at real people and real characters (be they gangsters, society ladies, migrant farmers, priests, or the Virgin Mary), but rather at Hollywood's way of portraying them.

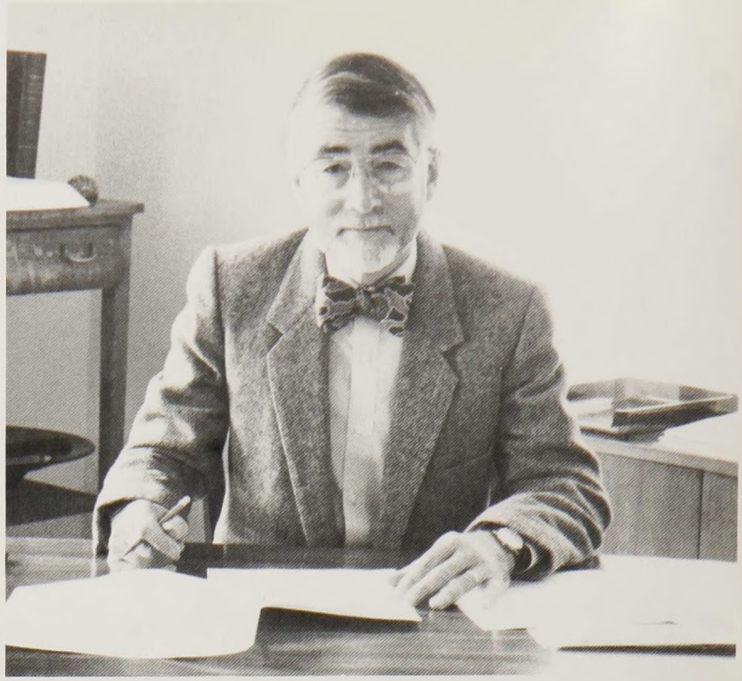
BLOOMFIELD COLLEGE



Office of the President

Congratulations, Class of 1992!

I wish to commend each of you on your achievement: earning a college diploma is an accomplishment to be proud of. I have enjoyed knowing you during your years at Bloomfield College, and I have watched you work hard to reach your goals.

I hope that what you have learned at Bloomfield College will be only the beginning of a lifetime of learning and the first step on your path to a rich and rewarding life.

Remember Bloomfield College; come back and visit us often. You have all been a part of Bloomfield College during your years here - I hope that you remain a part of our "family" for many more years to come.

Again, my deepest congratulations and best wishes to all of you.

Soccer Program Gains Respect

Coach Ralph Dougan and his Deacon soccer squad finished the 1991 season with a very respectable 11-6 record and attended the District 31 playoffs for the first time in five years. With success comes awards and hats off to senior center forward Michael Cooper for being named Jersey Nine Men's Soccer Player of the Year, Jersey Nine Men's Soccer All-Star Team and honorable mention All-America.

Cooper, a resident of Harrison, scored 20 goals and collected eight assists this season. Also honored was teammate Sean Reilly. Reilly, a freshman forward from Kearny, scored 13 goals and 10 assists to join Cooper on the Jersey Nine All-Star Team.

"This season we really had some fun and those two guys (Cooper and Reilly) made it enjoyable," said Dougan, now in his second year as head coach.

"Last year it was trial and error every time we played. This year we had quality players with the right attitude and made things happen when we took the field."

One of the players who brought that "right" attitude to the team this past year was senior BILL MULDER. Mulder earned NAIA Academic All-American honors this past year.

Sounds like soccer is back at Bloomfield and with the crop of young guys coming back — TIM SANTIAGO 7 goals, 7 assists and RYAN WILLIE 4 goals, 6 assists to name a few — the Deacons are no longer a secret.

Deacons Rebound to Finish Season Strong

The Deacons, led by fourth-year head coach Bruce Gallagher, returned all but one starter this year and were ranked 33rd in the nation among Division II NAIA schools. They finished the 1991-92 campaign 15-14 after struggling to start the season.

Returning were HASSAN ELLERBEE, SAM McGEE and TONY SERLE. All three added some much needed spark to a team that was looking to improve upon a lackluster '90-'91 season.

Ellerbee, a 6-4 junior forward, appeared in only 20 games this year due to an injury, but made the most of every game. He averaged 12.7 ppg and ranked 2nd in rounds, (163, 8.2 rebounds per game) and his 8.5 rpg led the team. Ellerbee's play throughout the season helped him earn All-Jersey Nine second team honors.

McGee, one of the young, talented basketball players who has made an instant impact on this Deacon squad his first two years, led the team in total points (391) and scoring (13.5 ppg). This 6-3 sophomore forward sparked the Deacons late in the season and earned 2nd team all-district 31 honors this season.

Serls, a 6-0 junior guard, played in 23 games and averaged 12.9 ppg, 5.5 rpg. and finished third on the team with 37 steals.

This Deacon team made great strides early in the season overcoming several heartbreaking losses (2 losses in overtime and five losses by three points or less) and digging themselves out of a 2-7 record as 1992 turned the corner.

Quickness and team speed seemed to be two factors which helped the Deacons finish the season with a 15-14 record. By mixing finesse with physical play got Bloomfield rolling and by the end of January, this team was 8-9.

Seniors PAUL OSHUST and RASON JACOBS helped fuel a six-game winning streak.

Lady Deacons Capture Championship Season

The "Dream Season" of 1991-1992 took the 22-8 Lady Deacons of Bloomfield College to NAIA Division II Women's Basketball Tournament. It was the first time in the school history the women's basketball program won the District 31 title and CACC title in the same year.

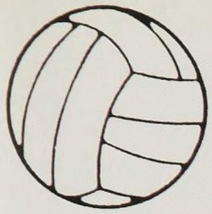
Even though the Lady Deacons lost their first round tournament game, they captured the District 31 championship for the time in the school's history with a win over defending champion Georgian Court, 79-71.

As in the past three seasons, Bloomfield was led by senior Dana Morton, who averaged 24.5 points per game and led the team in scoring in 23 of the 29 games. Her scoring ranked her No. 3 nationally, along with her No. 1 ranking for assists per game, after the District 31 Championship, Morton was selected tournament MVP and District 31 Player of the Year.

The team's six other seniors also made major contributions. Center Dana Plunkett and Forward Deanna Yates had outstanding seasons, with Plunkett leading the team in rebounds. Yates joined five other Lady Deacons in the record books to reach the 1,000 point milestone. This year she was named New Jersey Sportswriters Player of the Week in December and earned District 31 tournament first team honors. Forward Carol Ann Din and Michelle Ruddock and Guards Lori Vega and Sue Cachowski were the other seniors on the team.

"IT WAS A VERY SPECIAL SEASON," said head coach Don Manfria.

Coach Manfria congratulates Deanna Yates on scoring 1,000 points.



VOLLEYBALL SPIKING ITS WAY TO SUCCESS

Women's volleyball coach Shelia Wooten kept her promise this season when she told me in September her team was young, going to make mistakes, but will gain the respect of many teams come the end of October. After being eliminated in the District 31 tournament, Wooten looked back at the season and realized the team's 3-20 record was far from acceptable, but she felt good that her Lady Deacons will be returning everyone except senior settler Dawn Daura-Politz next year.

JUDETTE VAVAL, who earned All-CACC and District 31 honors, led the team in service aces (60) and collected 49 assists and 35 kills. Senior MICHELLE RUDDOCK, who led the team in kills (71), earned second team All-District 31 honors. Senior DEANNA YATES had 56 kills, 18 aces and 10 blocks, combining with Vaval and Ruddock to give the Lady Deacons stability on the court.

SOFTBALL STRIKES OUT OPPONENTS

You may recall that in 1989 the Lady Deacons found themselves playing in the NAIA National tournament in Midland, Michigan. In 1990, it was a repeat visit to the nationals and a trip to Pensacola, Florida. After finishing 21-6 and losing two straight games in the District 31 tournament last season, head coach Mike Schiro and the Lady Deacons don't like the idea of having a good season and having nothing to show for it. This past year, head coach Mike Schiro and the Lady Deacons finished the season 16-9.

"I think last season was a learning experience for everyone," said Schiro. "I know our players realize it doesn't make a difference how many games you win during the regular season, it's how you finish."

Helping the Lady Deacons get back on track this year was All-District 31 selection senior catcher DAWN DAURA-POLITZ. Last season Daura-Politz hit .505 and was the nations (NAIA Div. II) fifth leading hitter. Co-captain Daura-Politz, who played third base last season, also ranked among the nation's best in two other categories; hits per game (9th, 1.70) and runs per game (1st, 1.52).

"Dawn is a quiet leader," said Schiro. "There is no doubt in my mind that Dawn will be the key to our success this year. She is a real long ball threat and will bat in one of the RBI spots in our lineup."

Already this season, Daura-Politz turned heads. In May she was named the softball Player of the Week by the New Jersey Intercollegiate Coaches and Sports Media Association. Heading into the third week of the season, Daura-Politz is hitting .714 (15 hits, 11 RBI and 6 extra base hits).

Daura-Politz is one of three seniors on this year's squad. The other two, co-captain SUE CACKOWSKI and MICHELLE RUDDOCK who provided leadership and focus.

"I've always had a strong belief in field leadership and leading by example," said Schiro. Senior leadership is worth a few wins anytime."

Cackowski, who transferred from Upsala two years ago, has a strong arm and adds an excellent glove to the shortstop position. A lefthanded batter who hit .452 last year, Sue added speed to base path (six-for-six last year in stole bases).

Mike Schiro, Coach

Ruddock, an outfielder who has been a major role player her past three seasons, hit .572 last year.

INFIELD

Joining Cackowski at shortstop will be junior second baseman MICHELLE VAZQUEZ, freshman KELLY ARNOLD, sophomore JENNIFER DULOG, and freshman MELINDA LABOY.

Vazquez, a former shortstop who returned last season after missing the '91 campaign due to an injury, moved to the other side of second base. Her speed on the bases and quickness in the field, make her a much improved player hitting .411 last year and stealing 15 bases in 15 attempts. She also earned All-District and All-Conference honors.

PITCHING

Once again, the Lady Deacons had the luxury having two quality pitchers. Last season the responsibility mainly fell on the shoulders of sophomore KELLY MCCORMICK.

McCormick, a former All-New Jersey State pitcher from Verona H.S., came to Bloomfield via Univ. of South Carolina. Last season McCormick pitched in 17 games, recorded 4 shutouts, 15 complete games and a 11-5 record to go along with a 3.23 ERA. At the plate McCormick hit .487, with 30 RBI.

"The only thing I can say about Kelly is that she is a power pitcher with a strong bat who can get it done on the mound and at the plate," said Schiro.

Splitting time on the hill this year was Bergen Community College transfer KATHLEEN TUOHY. Tuohy, who complimented McCormick, is a smart pitcher with the ability to throw hard and mix up her pitches.

OUTFIELD

Speed and quickness is the way Schiro described his outfield. Led by junior MELANIE BERA, junior SANDY CUMISKEY, and junior DAWN WILLIAMS, this is a strong outfield.

Cumisky hit .397 last season with five doubles and 19 RBI. Bera, who missed the '90 season due to an injury, showed strong "game sense" last year and hit .446, along with 29 RBI and seven extra base hits.

The one thing Schiro likes about Cumiskey and Bera is that they become both a defensive and offensive weapon when in the lineup.

Williams, who also saw some action at first base this year, did not play last season and has worked hard to get her knee back into shape.

Other players who saw some action in the outfield: sophomore LEZLY LUCAS, and freshman THERESA FREDO.

This was coach Schiro's second season as mentor of the Lady Deacons' program and the former assistant and batting coach thinks the program is back on course for a fifth trip to the National Tournament next season.

Good Things Happening on the Diamond

This past season was head coach Al Restaino, Jr.'s sixth season as mentor of the Bloomfield College baseball program. Last year, a strong end-of-the-season surge helped his team to a 22-19-2 record. At one time the Deacons were 10-14-2, but put together an 11-game winning streak heading into the District 31 Tournament.

This year as the 1991-92 school year comes to a close, the Deacons are sporting one of their best seasons at 23-10 and participating in the District 31 tournament.

"I don't think many players from last year's team realized what kind of potential this team had this year," said Restaino, Jr., as the team started post-season play in May. "I knew we had a young team last season and each game, win or lose, was going to be an experience to grow on."

Heading into this past season, the Deacons were minus some solid senior leadership in the likes of Mark Maione, Doug Marshall and honorable mention All-America, Matt D'Amato.

Ten letterwinners returned and Restaino felt positive his team would make some noise this year.

"The key to our season thus far has been the newcomers blending quickly with some of the returning players," said Restaino, Jr. "Last season we won some big games against top teams in the conference and district and this year we picked up where we left off."

Helping Restaino, Jr. find that right chemistry was assistant coaches Tony Davanzo, Joe Reif and Mark Wright.

Last season pitching seemed to drive this team, but this year Restaino found power in his offense, bolstered by DANIEL VALDEZ, JOSE COLUMNA, and MIKE DIBIASE.

THE INFIELD

At shortstop was returnee Jose Columna who batted .301 last season. According to the coaching staff, Columna, a junior, has worked on his quickness in the field and will cover more ground up the middle this year.

At second base was senior ANDY CASTRO, who was expected to take a leadership role this year. Last season, Castro hit .480, along with four home runs and 28 runs batted in. Castro's performance last season earned him All-CACC honors, and being named to the District 31 All-Star team and New Jersey Nine All-Star team.

"Heading into this season, both Jose and Andy have had a full season to work together (second and shortstop)," said Restaino, Jr. "The middle of the field is always a critical part of your defense. I'm confident they can get the job done."

MICHAEL SLOTOVITCH got some playing time at second base as well. This former All-Morris County second teamer hit .297 last season.

Anchoring first base is former Caldwell H.S. standout, junior CARL DiMASI.

DiMasi, who played mostly first base last year, struggled at the plate for average hitting .256, but drove in 35 runs.

On the "hot corner" was one of the six newcomers to the Deacon squad, Freshman LUIS ROTGER.

Rotger was a three-spot star in high school, basketball, volleyball and baseball. His senior year, Rotger hit .412 and was named team MVP.

THE OUTFIELD

Speed, quickness and size is the way Restaino, Jr. explains his outfield when talking to the media.

Led by All-CACC and honorable mention All-America player junior Daniel Valdez, junior ANDY GLUECK and MARCO PARDO, the Deacons have solid defense in the outfield with this trio.

According to Restaino, Jr., this outfield will compliment the infield and make it tough for teams to squeeze out "throw-away" runs.

Valdez, who also was named to the All-District 31 team, Area 8 All-Star team, and New Jersey Nine All-Star team, played centerfield and hit .378 last season along with six home runs and 48 runs batted.

Glueck, the everyday leftfield, contributed a .331 average.

Pardo, in rightfield, hit .288 and drove in 18 runs.

Two newcomers who added some depth to the outfield:
freshman FRED BUFFARDI and JULIO VALAZQUEZ.

Buffardi played high school ball at Newark Eastside while Valazquez played at Bloomfield Tech.

THE BATTERY

When you talk pitching, Restaino gives you a smile but won't comment. Perhaps the fact he lost three key starters to graduation would kept him reserved. Mark Maione, Tom Trapasso and Rob Sasso secured 14 of the team's 22 wins last year.

High expectations was the phrase you hear in the clubhouse. Six pitchers dot the roster; sophomore ARTURO ALEJANDRO, sophomore COLIN CUMISKEY, sophomore MICHAEL NEAL, sophomore KEN RIVERA, freshman BOB SANBORN, and senior BRYAN SHORTINO.

The ace of the staff heading into the new season was lone senior, Bryan Shortino (6-5 last season, 3.17 ERA). Two other returnees, Colin Cumiskey, who also spends some time in the outfield, was 3-2, 3.87 ERA and picked up three saves in relief. Kenny Rivera made six appearances and recorded a 1-1 record. This past year, Rivera recorded a no-hitter.

Handling these "mound aces" was senior MIKE DIBIASE (Belleville, NJ). DiBiase caught and played the outfield last season. He hit .288 and drove in 14 runs. Joining DiBiase was freshman RAFFAEL MELCHIONE. Melchione, who played at Baley-Ellard last season (.344, 21 runs batted in and six homers), earned third team All-Morris County honors.

BACCALAUREATE

Baccalaureate has its origins in the tradition of chivalry, in which the squire goes through a special ceremony to become a knight. As part of the ceremony, his armor, sword, and spurs are blessed in a church before knighthood is conferred.

The Baccalaureate is a ceremony in which the armor of the student (the degree) is blessed in a non-denominational service. Generally, the students, faculty, administration, and academic guests proceed to the chapel in full academic dress.

Side by Side, step by step, seniors practice their march.

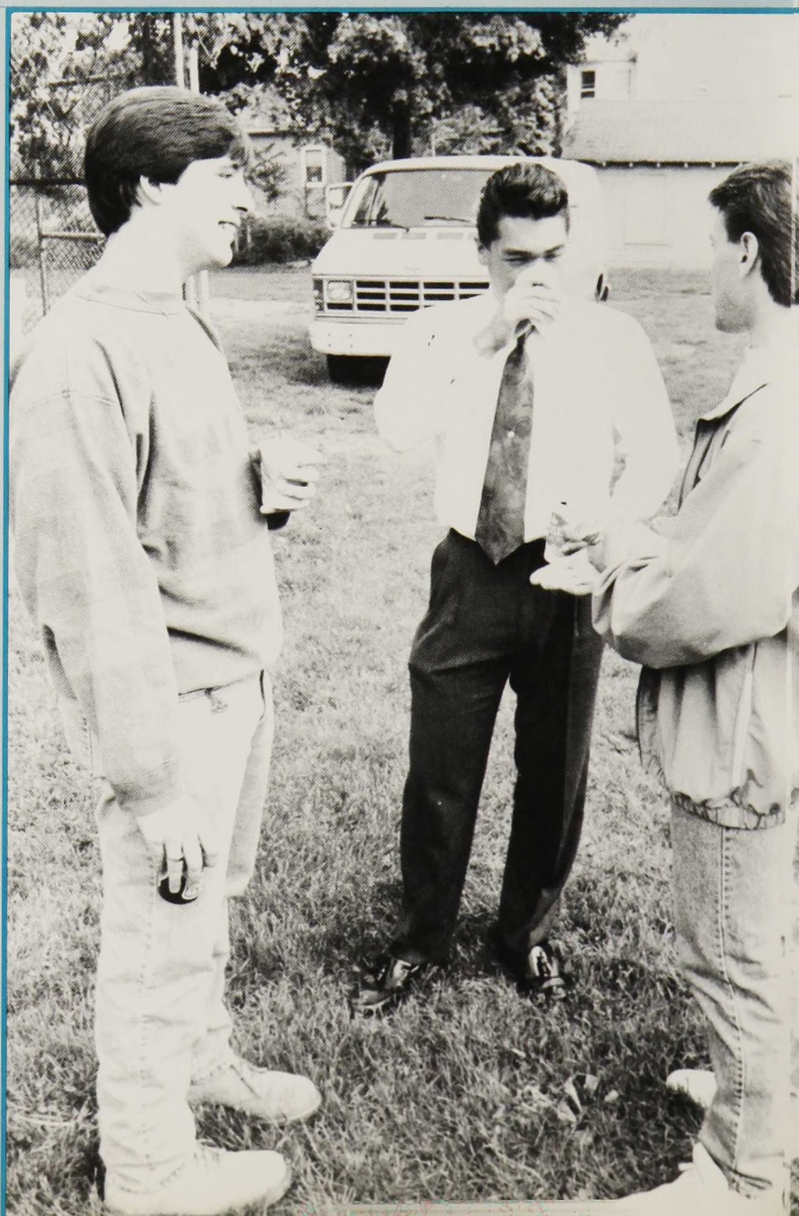
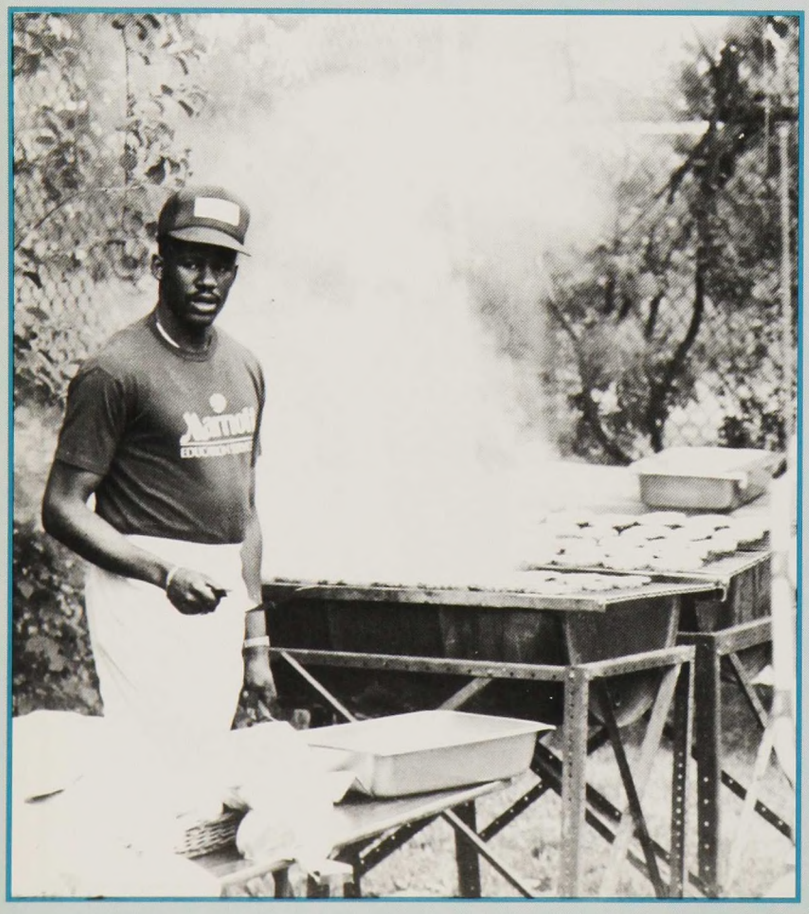
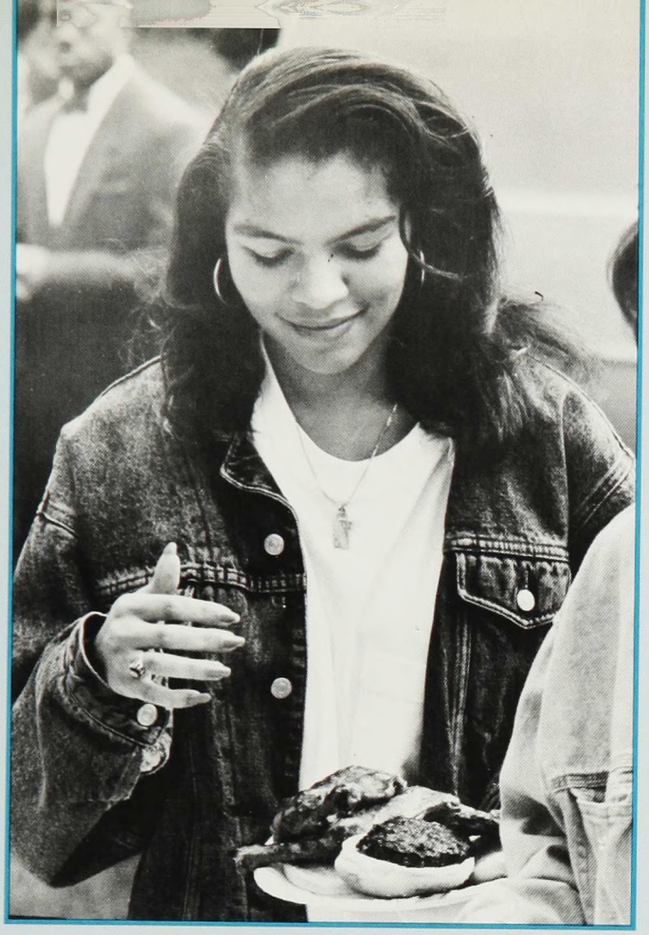
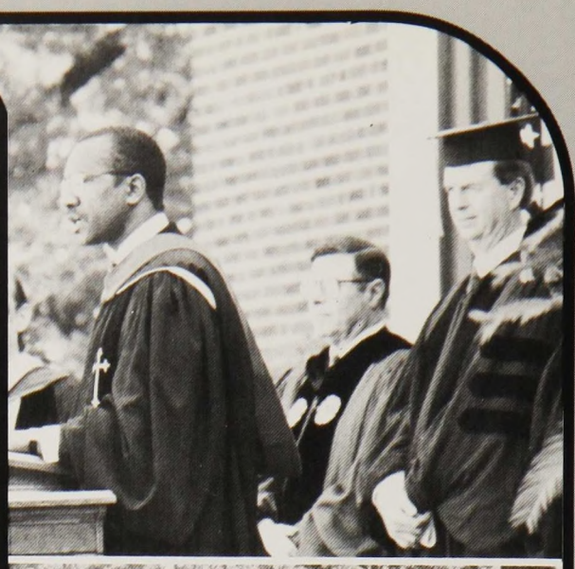
Side By Side

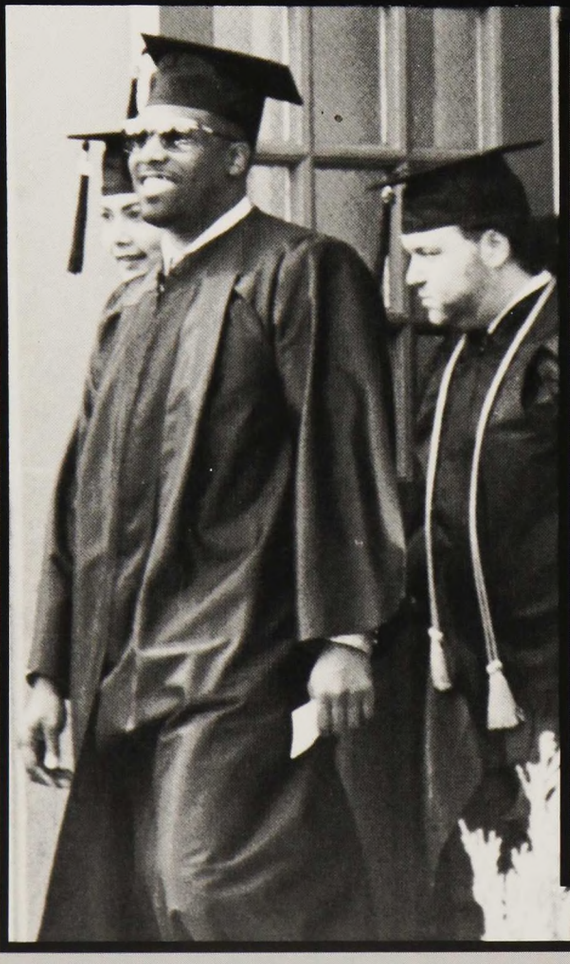
seniors, family, friends, and faculty share good food and fun at the annual Senior Barbecue.

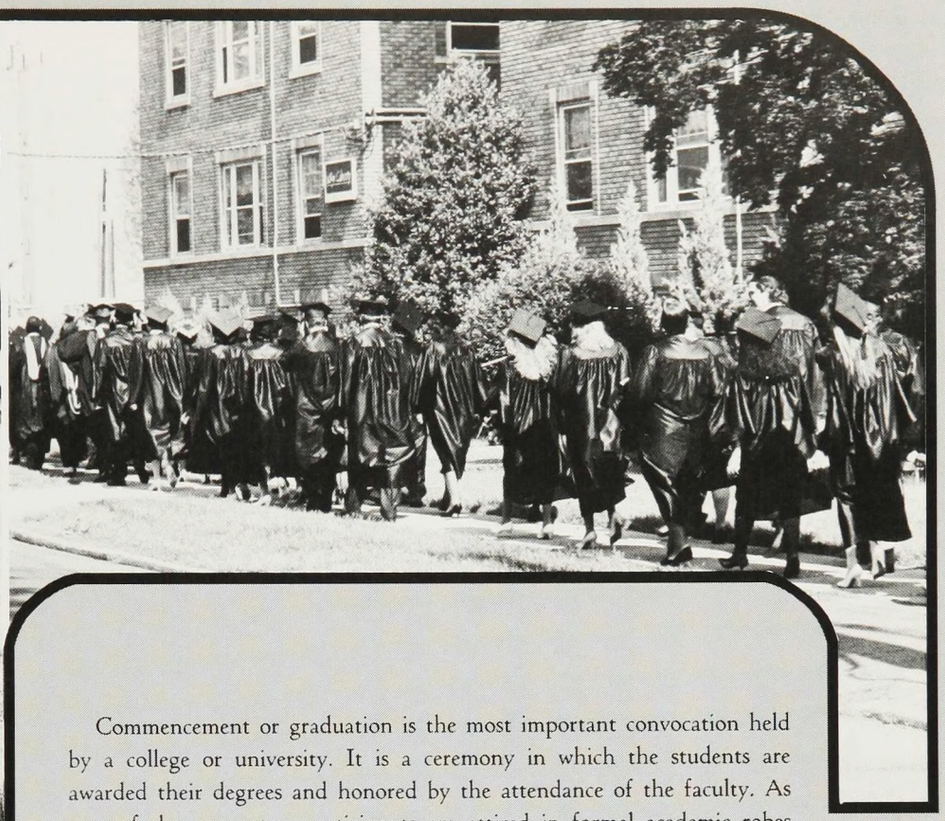






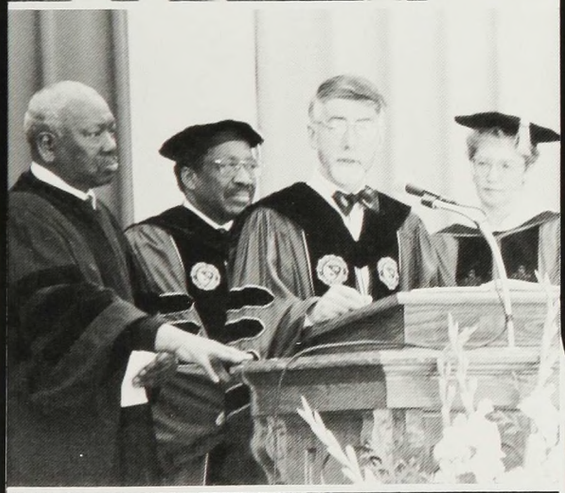


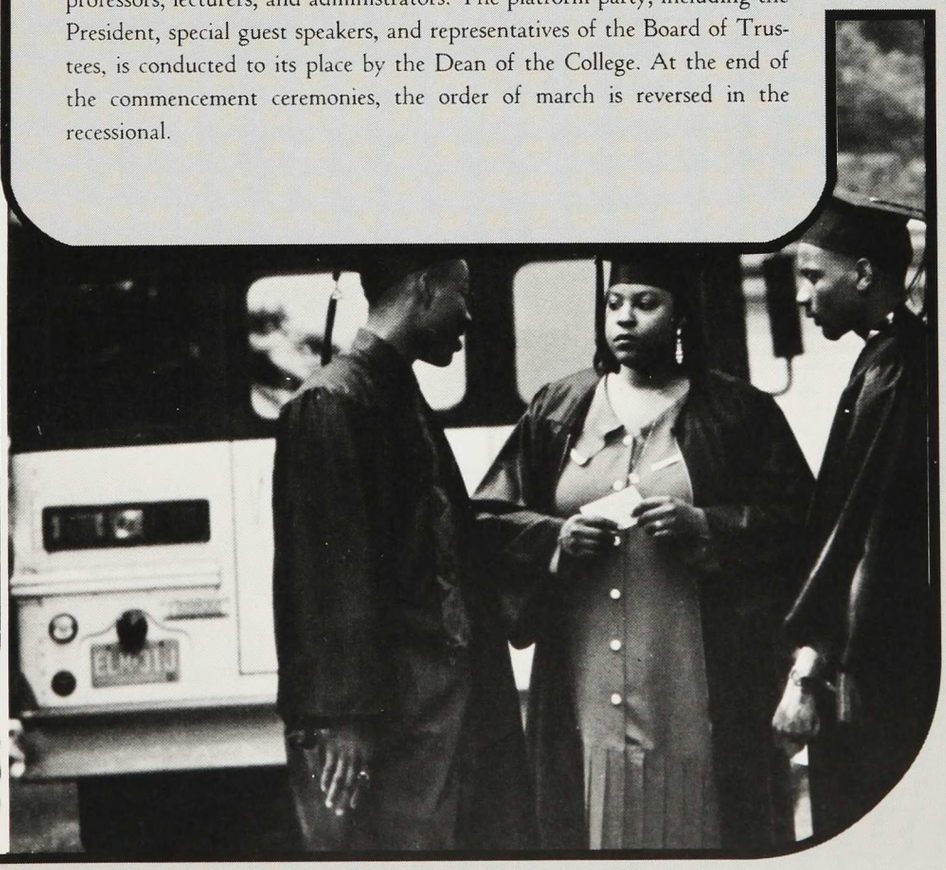


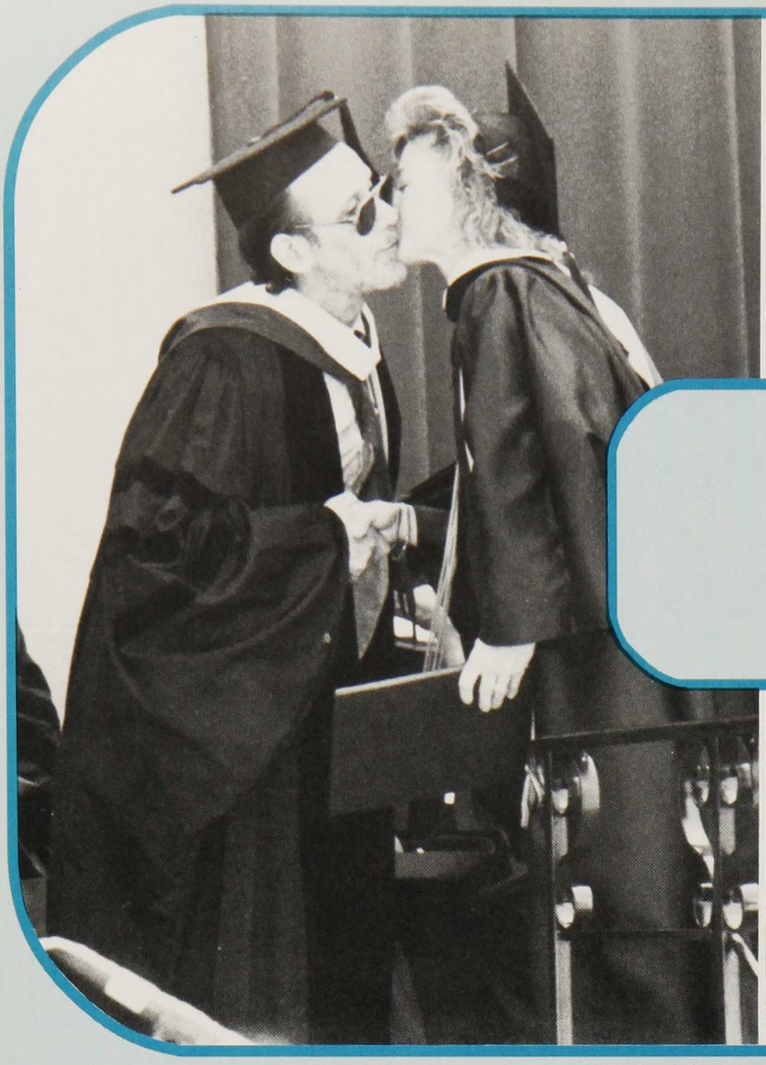


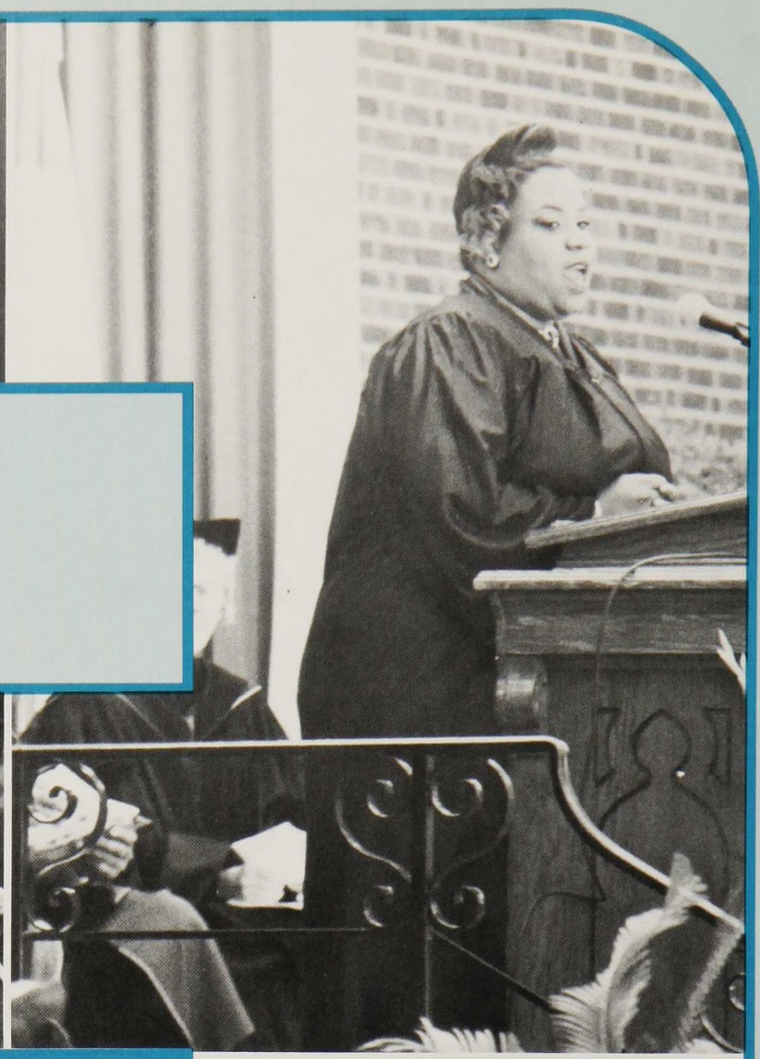
Commencement or graduation is the most important convocation held by a college or university. It is a ceremony in which the students are awarded their degrees and honored by the attendance of the faculty. As part of the pageantry, participants are attired in formal academic robes and engage in ceremonial processions that have their origin in the church and university convocations of the late Middle Ages.

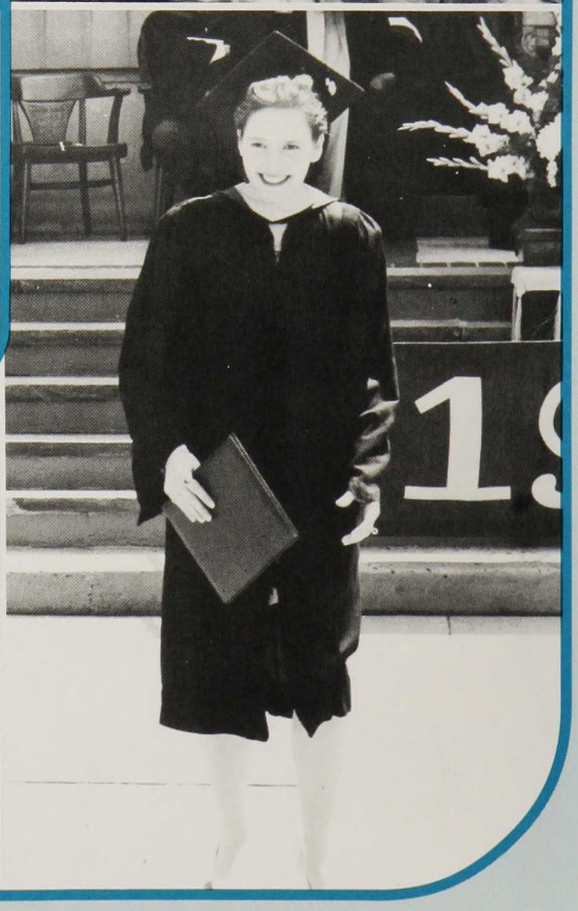
The commencement processional is led by the marshal, a highly respected senior member of the faculty. The students follow the marshal, candidates for Bachelor of Arts, the older degree, preceding Bachelor of Science candidates. Next come faculty and administration. Faculty members proceed in order of rank; professors lead, followed by associate professors, assistant professors, lecturers, and administrators. The platform party, including the President, special guest speakers, and representatives of the Board of Trustees, is conducted to its place by the Dean of the College. At the end of the commencement ceremonies, the order of march is reversed in the recessional.

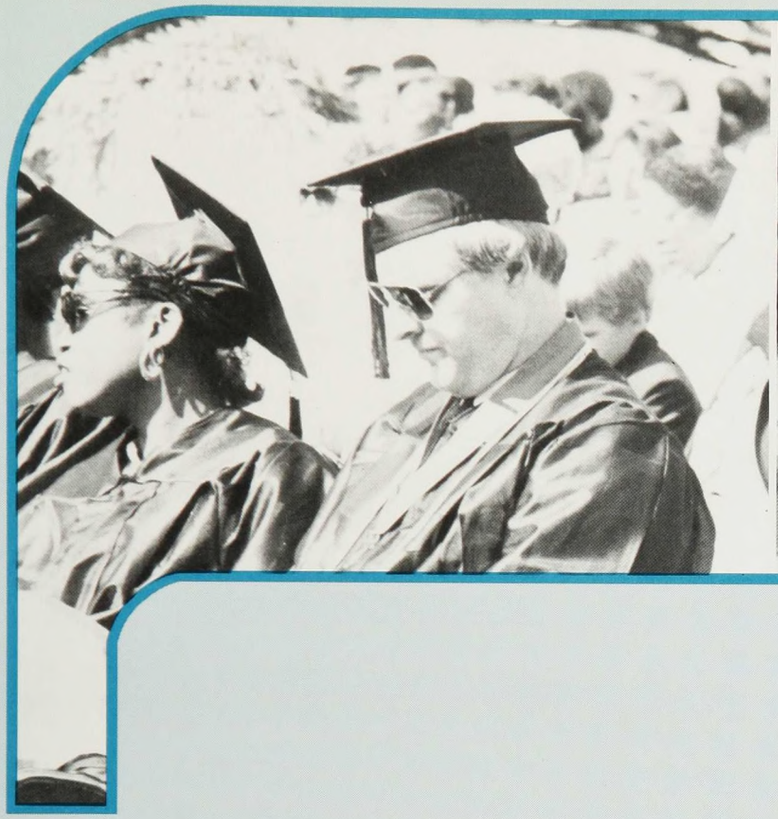


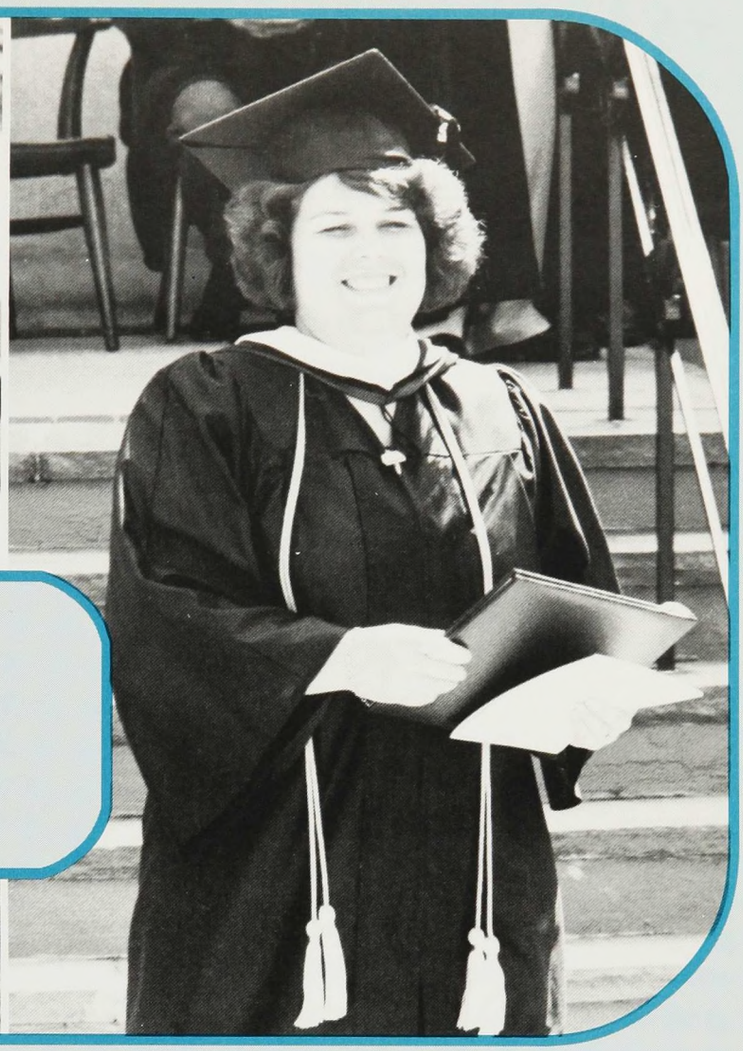


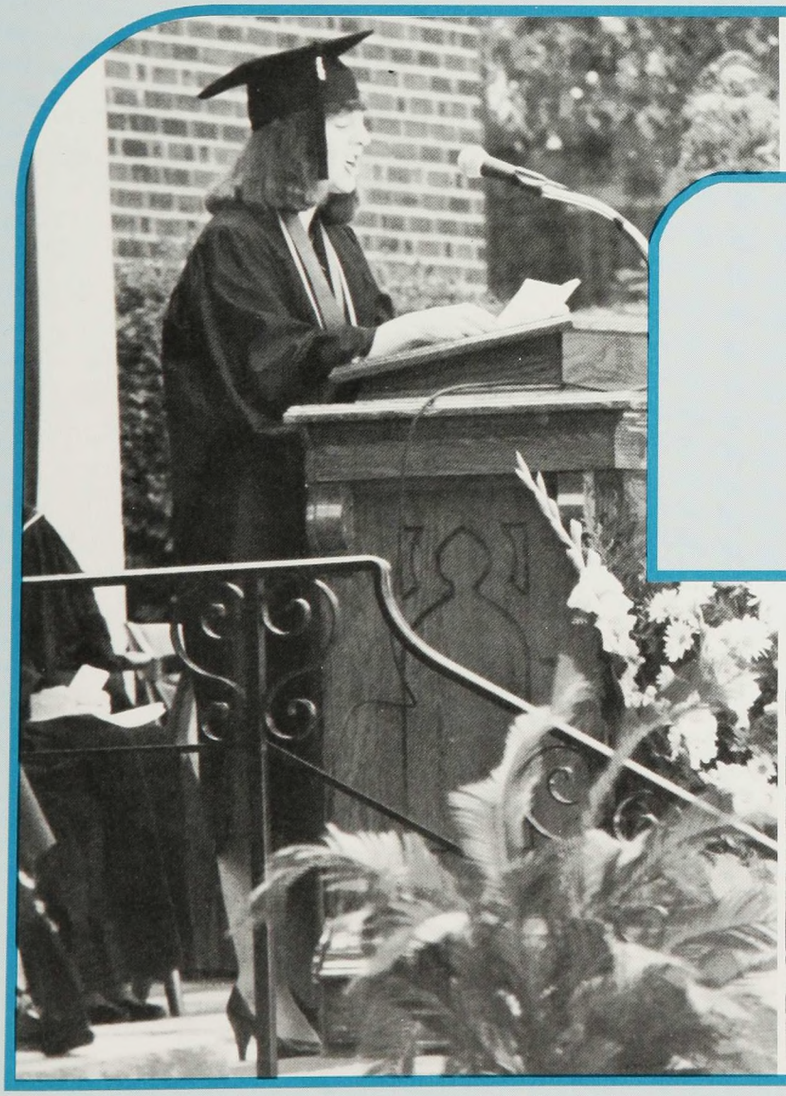












To Our Daughter Tanya,

May God continue to Bless You,
You have made us so happy,
We Love You!

Ana,

Whoever says you can't be a wife, a mother, a student, and a bread winner all at once doesn't know you. Your hard work and determination paid off, cum laude graduate!

It seems that fate had the job of Editor-in-Chief in store for you since you had passed the reigns on to me in the past. Now you know why I carried around a "Yearbook box".

Love Always, Albert
I Love You, Mommy! — Mark
WE ARE ALL VERY PROUD OF YOU!

Albert: Thank you for pushing me forward. It's been tough but we survived. I LOVE YOU!

Mark: Thank you for being a good boy, Mommy loves you!

To my Friends: Thank you for putting up with me and for all the support, love and prayers.

God Bless,
Ana Rodriguez-Leon

To the Class of 1992:

In creating a theme for the '92 Saga, the staff and I decided that we would choose one that would interpret our understanding of the College's mission of creating a multicultural, multiracial learning environment in which each student could reach his or her potential freely.

Side by side seemed to express our interpretation best. Side by side describes not only the diverse racial and cultural make-up of Bloomfield College students, but also the diversity in age, work and life experiences found among these students. A diversity which truly makes the College Experience at Bloomfield unique.

I hope that the pages of this book will bring you fond memories, but most importantly, I hope that these pages will remind you that working together, Side by Side, is one way to make tomorrow a better place to live.

Congratulations!
